

UNICORN RIOT CORRECTIONS POLICY

As a news organization we strive to publish information that is factually accurate. That said, we do make mistakes and there are times when we need to make an update or correction regarding a particular story. If any such changes need to be made after a story has been published, then an editorial disclaimer will be posted to highlight the changes and the date on which those changes were made. Grammar corrections do not require a disclaimer.

Furthermore, media content published by Unicorn Riot can be removed or edited if:

1. There is a clear violation of our media collective agreements and/or process.
2. For racism, transphobia, homophobia, xenophobia, or other discrimination.
3. The underlying facts are not true.
